CREATING A LEGACY

The Armenian
Apostolic Church
at Hye Pointe

NEW CHURCH, NEW BEGINNING

For decades, Armenians living in the Northern Merrimack Valley region of Massachusetts have been parishioners of two stalwart churches, St. Gregory the Illuminator Armenian Apostolic Church of Haverhill and Holy Cross Armenian Apostolic Church of Lawrence. Families of these two parishes attended weekly services, baptisms, marriages, and funerals as well as, countless dances and social events. These two churches have been at the heart and soul of the local Armenian community.

Due to socioeconomic changes in the region, with the approval of the Diocese, these two parishes came together into one greater and stronger church called the Armenian Apostolic Church at Hye Pointe to be located in Bradford, Massachusetts.

In 2011, the Diocese appointed Rev. Fr. Vart Gyoalyan as the pastor of this new community. Our parishioners embraced Fr. Vart and his lovely wife and children into our Armenian community. With the appointment of Fr. Vart, his spirit and vision has helped strengthen the community and has helped our congregation grow so we can continue building our future legacy for our families.
